Dear Darryl,

I would like to thank you and your team for helping us with our latest refurbishment project.

Fanshawe, in particular yourself, was one of the first people we spoke to when we decided to execute this project. Your general advice in the initial stages was hugely appreciated and invaluable to us. As always you and your team advised us extremely well, ensured that costs were questioned when required and where necessary explained to us, the client, in layman's terms what was what.

You and your team conducted yourselves in a highly professional manner and were patient especially with our ever-changing specification / demands.

When we next embark on another project alike we will have no hesitation to call upon your services once again.

Many thanks again.
